

NFC's Mobile Interface

The redesigned National Finance Center (NFC) Web site now offers users a new responsive design format that intuitively knows what type of device you are using. Once the application recognizes your device, the content is automatically reformatted to provide you with the best presentation of content and easiest navigation.

While you may only notice slight variations between a desktop and tablet (landscape orientation) interface, the mobile interface offers users a fully “mobilized” version of the site that provides you with the type of sliding menus and navigation that make it easier for you to interact with the site via a mobile device.

As you can see from the screenshots below, in the mobile version of the site the top main navigation of the site has been floated to the bottom of the screen and is now offered as a sliding menu. You can access additional menus from each page in the site by clicking the Menu button  located at the top right-hand side of every page. This activates a sliding menu from the left with additional links.

We hope you enjoy the design and mobile interface. If you have any questions or feedback, please contact us at nfcpubs@nfc.usda.gov.

