PURPOSE OF PROBATIONARY OR TRIAL PERIOD REPORT

The probationary or trial period for USDA employees is the first year of continuous service with the Agency. The probationary or trial period is considered as a continuation of the examining process for an employee who is given a career-conditional or career appointment in the competitive service or a conditional or permanent appointment in the excepted service.

Performance on the job is the final test for a new employee. The probationary or trial period provides a method by which the Agency may separate without following the normal separation procedures those new employees who lack fitness, or capacity to acquire fitness for permanent Government service.

Properly used, the probationary or trial period affords an opportunity for fostering the interest of the employee as well as that of USDA. Intelligent and considerate treatment during the period will often have a lasting effect on the career of the employee. It will often save for useful and efficient Federal service employees who would otherwise be separated, or be retained in positions in which they have little prospect of success.

PURPOSE OF PROBATIONARY OR TRIAL PERIOD REPORT

1. During the probationary or trial period the supervisor shall (a) observe the employee's conduct and performance closely; (b) try to understand employee's problems and give proper guidance; and (c) study potentialities closely, and try to determine whether employee is suited for successful Government work.
2. If it becomes apparent after full and fair trial, that the employee's conduct or performance is not such for satisfactory service, the supervisor shall initiate action to separate the employee by recommending separation from the present position.

3. Following the submission of Form AD-507, the supervisor shall continue to observe and appraise the employee, and report by memorandum any significant change which may occur before the end of the period, and which would affect the former appraisal or recommendation of the employee.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE OF FORM
